

STONE & THOMAS.

Weather Forecast for To-day—Fair.

Our second floor is a revelation to visitors since the opening of the new millinery and suit departments.

The elegance of the furnishings is in pleasing harmony with the wealth of seasonable attire for women, misses and children on show. It's the section of the store particularly attractive just now.

The entire floor is devoted to the display of millinery, suits, coats, capes, waists, separate skirts, and in fact ready-made garments of every description. When we say the entire second floor, we mean also the new building, for we're occupying the new structure on every floor except the first and the basement.

Our Millinery Emporium is one of the finest in the country, and the galaxy of "beauty hats" is most comprehensive and satisfying—you'll say the same of the suit parlor.

We take especial pride in our own make of Hats, Bonnets and Toques—those made by our own milliners, we mean—made after the newest and prettiest of the autumn and winter Parisian models.

We have the foreign-made fancies, too, made by Camille Roger, Virot-Berthe and others, but you can hardly tell the difference except by looking at the price card.

Sarah Bernhardt's latest, the Empire, is just out of our work room. It is a pretty, swaggy shape, made with tan velvet and trimmed with shaded velvet roses. Priced at only $7.98.

Prices in trimmed millinery range from $1.98 to $65.

tailored garments

The suit parlor is in the new section of the enlarged second floor. The equipment is magnificent, the arrangement perfect.

Here and there, artistically placed, are forms clothed in the new and handsomely fashioned suits, automobiles, etc. Immense cases contain hundreds, yes, thousands of jackets and separate skirts, affording a selection such as has never been shown in this section.

One tailored costume, particularly attractive, is made of: Camel's Hair Cheviot and Imported Broadcloth. Blouse jacket, handsomely trimmed with stitched taffeta to form yoke, military collar, and chevron on the sleeves. Lined throughout with best taffeta silk—flaring skirt. They come in blue. Price $22.50.

Our autumn and winter suits range in price from $10.00 to $100.00.

BLACK

For "Dressy" Dresses

is as much in vogue as any one particular color we could name. Every woman should own at least one good Black Dress, as this is a most useful article for many purposes.

It follows as a natural sequence that you are interested in our Black Goods Department, because we show here at least one hundred and fifty different sorts, at all prices between 25c and $4.00 yard.

At 69c Yard,

An all-wool sponged and shrunk Black Serge—shrunk down from 44 to 42 inches in width. A good shade of black, with a fairly lustrous surface. Instead of 89c a yard, the price is..... 69c Yd.

At $1.25 Yard,

An all-wool Zibeline, 50 inches wide—a bright black surface, closely covered with black camels' hairs—is equally desirable for separate skirts or full tailored suits. Not at all expensive at..... $1.25 Yd.

At $2.75 Yard,

Exceedingly handsome Silk and Wool Embroidered Crepe—a somewhat misleading name. It refers to a line of black goods with brilliant raised silk figures of quaint design, sharply defined on dull, yet rich surfaces. Almost in the same class is a line at $2.25 yard, with figures on a brighter red surface.

From 89c to $2.98 Yard,

A splendid range of Black Broadcloths—a class of goods considered as near staple as anything in the Dress Goods line. Some of the new ones—not unlike Venetians—come with a fine twill surface.

In Addition,

Camel's Hair and Pebbled Cheviots, Pacquin Serges, Plerolas, Hop Sacquings, Poplins, Plain Cloths and all the staple weaves.

A new line of shaped applique Net Dresses up to $69 each.

These are simply hints—all the representation one could expect from such a large stock in such a small newspaper space. We invite you not only to call and see this Black Dress Goods stock of ours, but the stock of Colored Dress Goods as well.

In Clerk Robertson's office yesterday, the following was recorded:

Deed made October 17, 1900, by Andrew P. Becker and others to William Petrie; consideration, $5,500; transfers north part of lot 89 in the old town plat. Marriage licenses were issued to: J. Harry Klives, aged thirty-eight, and Carrie May Franzell, aged twenty-seven, of Beeling. Glenn J. Becker, aged twenty-three, of Michigan, and Emma Cottner, of Indiana.

The Justice Shops.

In Squire Fitzpatrick's court yesterday, Annie Dunlap was placed under a bond of $50 to keep the peace for six months. She was arrested on a disorderly charge preferred by Phoebe Riddle.

In Squire Greer's court, the case of Tom Curtis and sister, Sallie, was to have been heard, but the case was withdrawn on the application of the plaintiff. The charge was breach of the peace preferred by Charles Gilmore.

The case of H. O. Porry, charged with kidnapping Nellie, the fourteen-year-old daughter of M. G. Grash, of Mingo, was set for the 19th inst. Porry came here with the girl and they registered at the White Cloud as man and wife. Squire Greer will try him on a charge of fornication and adultery and a charge of kidnapping awaits him at Mingo.

EAST END
MEETINGOf Voters Addressed by the Able and Eloquent C. L. Weems, of St. Clairsville.

A LOGICAL AND EFFECTIVE

Argument Why the Voter Should Cast a Ballot for the Republican Ticket.

About 1,000 persons gathered about the stand at the corner of Wood and Eighteenth streets last night to listen to an able and eloquent exposition of the issues from a Republican standpoint, by the Hon. C. L. Weems, of St. Clairsville. Mr. Weems made one of his characteristic speeches, abounding in witty stories illustrating his points and holding the crowd in rapt attention. Mr. Weems as a stump speaker is par excellence and the mere fact of his being scheduled to make an address is a magnet that attracts hundreds. He made a splendid speech last night notwithstanding the fact that his voice was somewhat husky from so much open air speaking. Many times during his address he was compelled to desist talking until the applause subsided. The cheering and applause was pronounced throughout.

A great street demonstration preceded the meeting and all along the line of march there was enthusiastic hand clapping and cheering. The clubs participating were the Rough Rider regiment, Elkins' Cadets, Six Footers and Travis Cadets. The column was late in forming and it was nearly 9 o'clock before County Chairman Hornish called the meeting to order. He introduced William K. McMechen as chairman of the meeting. Mr. McMechen in a few well chosen words introduced Hon. C. L. Weems as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Weems was cheered as he arose to address the crowd. He began by apologizing for a hoarse voice.

It is an historic indictment against the Democratic party in its long lease of life before the Civil war it failed to establish a uniform currency. The Republican party gave us a currency that is as national as our flag. The Democratic party caused the greatest panic in our history in '73, by a depreciated paper currency. You remember the great railroad strikes of 1877. In that year a Democratic governor was elected in my own state of Ohio. That was the darkest hour of our history.

The Republican party appealed to the sober second thought of the American people. It's position was that we should resume specie payment in this country. It was a long, hard Republican fight. We held aloft the Republican banner of sound money. I will say to you this as to the money question, that the one thing left to do is to settle it, to settle it so at the coming election we'll not be bothered with it any more. It is too bad that the business of this country must be knocked into uncertainty because the money question must be kicked into politics. It must be buried so that the arch-angel's trumpet will never disturb its slumbers. (Cheers.)

Settle 16 to 1.

I'll tell you what to do with 16 to 1. Settle it with such a blow that it will remain settled forever, so that it will be like a man who was dead and when the Romans were sent for the reply came that "There are no remains, he was kicked by a mule." (Laughter and cheers.)

The Democrats told Bryan it was no use talking 16 to 1 was dead, it was a corpse. There is no use of resurrecting a corpse. Bryan said, "Gentlemen, my pride is involved in this matter. We will wrap up the deceased and try to keep him alive for another campaign." I say Mr. Bryan did not treat the Democratic party right. He eat the dish of crow himself and comes before the people and never mentions 16 to 1.

Mr. Weems then took up the tariff question. The President says the protective tariff is an issue this campaign. When I look down this valley I realize it more and more that the greatest sight is the lights of the Ohio valley hills. There were discussions as to whether we could make pottery in this country or not. William McKinley had faith in the genius of the American laborer and he thought he could add them by the imposition of a protective tariff. He thought the same as to the manufacture of tin plate, and we all know the result. Whatever we may say as to imperialism, the issue of this campaign is whether we can employ American workmen at an honest day's wages.

The one overwhelming problem of American statesmanship is the honorable employment of American labor at an honest day's wages and I thank God I am a member of the party of Mr. McKinley.

One Supreme Thing.

Some complaint is made because things are high, but I say the one supreme thing is to have money to buy things whether they are high or low. Building material is high, of course it is, but people are building, a thing they didn't do in 1896. Democrats say we are taxed to death by a tariff for the benefit of the trusts. The tariff is a tax, that was about every other line in the Democratic argument. They said in '92 things were too high. There was a poor congregation over in England that wanted to buy some hymn books. The cast about for some way to get them. In an evil hour they found a patent medicine company to advertise in them, who would furnish them. When Sunday came around they were singing the advertisements. So it was with Mr. Bryan in 1892, who said these high prices put us in power, let us at 'em and we'll smash 'em for you. We put 'em in power and they smashed 'em all right. Ah, in cheap prices there is a danger that man may become cheap too. In '96 they said to us that they had overdone it a little. They said we had 'em a little too low, but we have a patent process that will fix things with a whirl. We have 16 to 1. Didn't that take gall?

Suppose Uncle Sam should say I am about to let the biggest contract ever let in the history of the human race. I want to feed my people for twenty-five years to come. The whole world would bid on it. Europe would step up and take the job. All the American workmen would step up to the auction block and say we would like to have that job. We can't do it as cheap, but we'll do it for 15 per cent more. Wouldn't you all say give it to the American workmen and let them have the job. We need the money, we've got to have the job.

Bryan an Imperialist.

I am going to talk for a moment on imperialism. I began to talk about it the other night and some fellow said "anti"—imperialism I said, my friend, you are right, it has two more syllables than I thought it had. The Democratic party is simply stuck on big words. An army of 100,000 men, forty-five soldiers in Ohio county. Mark Hanna marching on Ohio county with forty-five soldiers to establish an empire. Mr. Bryan is an imperialist, but he don't know it. He says if he gets in he is going to establish a stable government for the Filipinos. He calls up the central office at Manila and asks if one Don Emilio Aguinaldo is in. The reply is yes, he just came in on his pony as soon as he heard you were elected. Mr. Bryan says, "I am elected President and I have just called my Congress in session and we have established a stable government for you. Aguinaldo replies, "Mr. Bryan, what do you mean, et tu Brute. You called a Congress. You 1,000 times said all men are created free and equal and I did not expect this of you. We have nothing to do with you and your government. I'll call my own congress and establish my own government. When Mr. Bryan hears this will he fight or will he run? I don't believe he'll run. He will fight and the moment he does he'll be standing on a Republican platform.

McKinley in Cuba.

I want to tell you what kind of an emperor our President, William McKinley is. He has been at work since October and to-night 140,000 happy faced and happy hearted boys and girls attend the free schools of Cuba, and they have all the modern appliances we have in our own schools. This has been done by that Christian statesman at Washington, so slow in declaring war that Democratic statesmen reviled him from one end of our land to another.

Your state, torn as it was from the jaws of slavery and hell and set among the stars of the Union by one of the greatest wars of history. West Virginia is the very tide of progressive Republicanism. You have broken the solid south. I say keep it broken in 1900. That is the greatest service you can render the men and women in our country. Prosperity must be continued. I thank you for your patient bearing and I bid you good-bye.
